Thank You, Volunteers!

Chief Executive Officer
Carol Hardison

The volunteers of Crisis Assistance Ministry are a critical heartbeat of the agency's housing stability work. Every hour you give, every family you encourage, every person you help clothe, and every act of compassion you show helps create dignity and hope for neighbors facing difficult moments.

You give unselfishly of your time and bring kindness and respect to every interaction. The impact you make lasts far beyond your work while here. Thank you for sharing your time, talents, and hearts so generously with this community.

Director of Volunteerism & Philanthropy
Phillip A. Miller

Every time you showed up, you chose someone else. You chose our neighbors, our community, and a city that is better because you were in the picture. Fifty years of that kind of love does not happen by accident. It happens because people like you decided that showing up mattered. Thank you for being here.

Volunteer Engagement Coordinator
Cary Donley

Your kindness and selfless giving bring hope, dignity, and light to so many. Because of you, our community is stronger and more compassionate. We are deeply grateful for your time, your heart, and the difference you make every single day.
